

Chapter 2 : Rainy Day

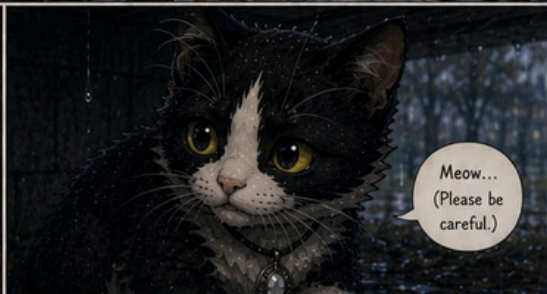

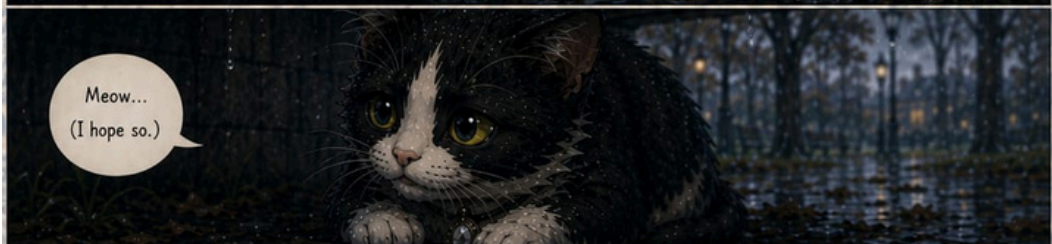

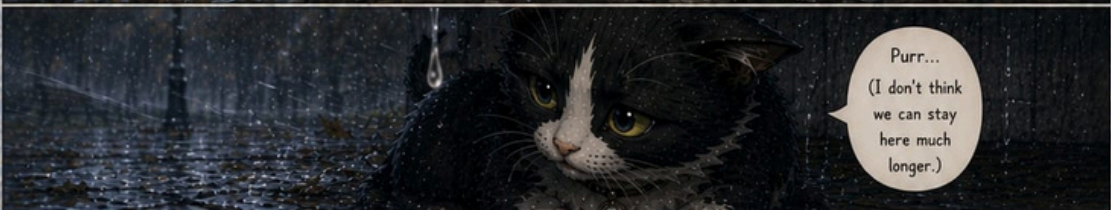

A detailed illustration of two cats sitting under a dark wooden bench on a rainy day. The cat on the left is black with bright blue eyes and a small white patch on its chin. The cat on the right is black and white with yellow-green eyes. Both are wearing ornate collars with large gemstones. Rain is falling around them, creating ripples on the wet ground. In the background, a park with trees and a street lamp is visible through the rain.

Purr... (Kai...
I don't know what's waiting for us out there...)

(But I'll always protect you.)

Mrr! (Then I'll protect you too!)

(No matter what happens.)

Some bonds are stronger than time... stronger than distance... and even stronger than forgotten memories.

Sometimes the greatest act of love is helping someone find the home they were always meant to have.
